 1. Matthew Bisner: FUEL applications are still open, so encourage first-years in your dorm to apply. The Student Union Showcase is this Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Washington Hall. Next week is Suicide Prevention Week, so on Monday there will be a table and t-shirt distribution in Duncan Student Center at 11 a.m. until noon. On Tuesday, there will be a Healing and Memorial Prayer Service at 8 p.m. at the Grotto. On Wednesday, there will be a suicide discussion called We Want You Here at 7 p.m. in the Notre Dame Room. This week, we've had a number of meetings with administrators. Most relevant to you all is that the registrar has agreed to look into the possibility of changing student names on IDs to your preferred name and activating preferred names for rosters. The soonest we're expecting that change to go into effect is next fall. We also met with Mike Seamon, the head of campus safety and university operations, to talk about game day operations. The biggest thing for us is sustainability. We will have the Department of Sustainability partner with the new logistics person for game day. For campus safety and the University as a whole, they're treating the home football season in thirds in their strategic planning. They're treating the September games as a unit, the October games as a unit, and the November games as a unit, reassessing and reevaluating what can be made better. If you notice anything that could be made better during gameday, let us know and we'll convey that to campus safety and university operations.

2. Allan Njomo: My office hours are this Friday from 3:15-5:15 in the office.

V. General Orders

A. Presentation on Findings of Notre Dame Voice Summit, Megan Rogers, Design for America Notre Dame President

1. Review insights here!
2. Megan Rogers: We use design thinking at Design For America and this is the thinking that went into the Student Voice Summit. Slides that are black came from the summit, white are meta or clouds. We brought people together to ask why students had different preferences, and to back up issues to core needs. This process of getting to the root of why people want what they want is an important trait as a student leader. We were looking into how we foster an environment where people are listening to each other. There's a big chasm between where we are now and where we want to be. We need more young people because there's so many of us graduating on this team. Sustainability is our main concern, that this is going to die after we graduate. Talk to your teachers because we need teachers to know. Regardless of the summit, be mindful of asking people why they think the way that they do. My email is mroger24@nd.edu If you want to send me an email of someone you think would be good.

3. Matthew Bisner: Feel free to write legislation around student concerns listed on the website.

VI. New Business

- A. Matthew Bisner: I'm in touch with Luigi, the Director of Campus Dining. He will be here to do a presentation on his work and the challenges facing campus dining as a whole. You'll be able to talk to him directly about student needs and concerns. Please send in legislation by Monday evening to get on the agenda.
- B. David Haungs: We'll have Judicial Council nominations for the Election Committee and maybe the other committees.

VII. Announcements

- A. Christian Yoder: The Morrissey Manor Game Watch is this Sunday.
- B. Madeline Kosobucki: Lewis LHOP is September 10th.
- C. Patrick Galligan: Dunne Fun Run is this Saturday with free food and an obstacle course.
- D. Jacob Lowry: The junior class will be hosting a concession stand at the first football game.
- E. Kate McLaughlin: SUB has Acousticafe this Thursday on Library Lawn. Fast and Furious 9 will also be playing this weekend.
- F. Dane Sherman: On September 13th, The Department of University Policy will be having a Zoom panel at 7 p.m. in Debartolo 141 with seven former student body presidents spanning 1972 to 2017. There will be a lot of discussions on student organizing, student government, and how we can make a better campus.

G. Matthew Bisner: On September 11th, The Department of Faith and Service will be holding the 20th Anniversary 9/11 Memorial Prayer Service on South Quad.

H. Mo Doyle: The Shirt Project is soliciting applications to design The Shirt 2022.
